Add on Course on “Understanding the Human Rights in Indian Perspective” Conducted by Department of Political Science, Bangabasi Morning College on and from 7th May -12th June 2019

Department of Political Science conducted a 30-hour Add-on Certificate Course titled "Human Rights in Indian Perspective" spanning on and from May 7 to June 12, 2019. A substantial cohort of 500 students enrolled in the course, with 480 successfully completing the comprehensive program. The esteemed Sri Atul Ch Biswas served as the course coordinator and keynote speaker, contributing valuable insights to the participants. In a nutshell, the course provided a holistic understanding of human rights.

Objectives:

- Understand the historical growth and evolution of the idea of human rights
- Demonstrate awareness of the international context and frameworks for human rights
- Analyze and evaluate key concepts, principles, and theories in human rights
- Develop the ability to identify, assess, and address human rights issues and violations
- Gain practical skills in human rights advocacy, activism, and implementation

Outcomes:

- Ability to locate, evaluate, and synthesize primary and secondary sources on human rights
- Advanced understanding of social injustices, inequities, and proposed approaches to remediation
- Capacity to conduct original research on human rights topics using interdisciplinary methods - Skill in evaluating human rights abuses and remedies at local, national, and international levels
- Knowledge of how social movements, organisations, and institutions impact human rights in practice
